

CALL FOR PAPERS

CENTRE FOR BUSINESS TAXATION ANNUAL SYMPOSIUM

28 June - 1 July 2016, Oxford

We invite you to submit a paper for the tenth annual symposium of the Oxford University Centre for Business Taxation. The symposium will take place at Saïd Business School in Oxford, from Tuesday 28 June – Friday 1 July, 2016. As ever, we welcome research on any topics related to business taxation in its broadest sense, including papers from economics, law and other disciplines, as well as interdisciplinary contributions.

Submissions can either be completed but unpublished papers, or extended abstracts of work in progress (at least two pages) which must be completed in time for the conference. The deadline for submissions is Monday 29 February, 2016 and papers should be submitted using the electronic form <http://www.sbs.ox.ac.uk/cbt-academic-symposium-2016>

Papers will be selected, and invitations extended, by Monday 28 March, 2016.

The programme will follow that of previous years; there will be a limited number of formal presentations, and plenty of time for informal interaction and private work, together with social events. Please also forward this call to young scholars and others working in the area of business taxation.

Accommodation will be organised for presenters and discussants, and the costs of accommodation, meals and social events will be met by the Centre. We have limited funds to reimburse travel costs, and we would like to target our support to participants who are unlikely to be able to attend without such help. If you need financial assistance with travel costs, then please make this known to us at the time of submitting your paper/abstract by completing the 'additional info/comments' section. Unfortunately we are unable to consider requests for financial assistance if they are not made at the time of the paper/abstract's submission.

The symposium convenor is John Vella. If you have any questions about the academic content of the symposium, please contact John, John.Vella@sbs.ox.ac.uk. For questions regarding the logistics, please contact Clare Ruthven-Stuart or Harriet Montague at cbtevents@sbs.ox.ac.uk.

We look forward to receiving your submissions and welcoming you to another successful symposium.

Best wishes,

Michael Devereux and John Vella