CESifo Conference on “Corporate Taxes and Corporate Governance”

5 – 6 November 2010, CESifo Conference Centre, Munich

Corporations in all major economies are facing two quite distinct sets of regulations. On the one hand, governments design corporate governance rules that are intended to make management accountable and protect the interest of minority shareholders. On the other hand, corporations face severe documentation requirements to account for taxable profits to protect the interest of taxpayers. The conference will discuss the interplay of these two set of regulations and discuss complementarities and conflicts. Topics and questions to be addressed include the following issues:

- Tax and financial accounting: the pros and cons of book-tax conformity.
- Tax havens and regulatory laxity.
- Effects of attempting to tax away the bonus culture?
- Financial structure and risk taking: How big are tax effects?
- Effects of taxing the managerial firm.
- Exploiting tax reforms as natural experiments for corporate governance analysis.
- The influence of taxes on ownership structure.

The deadline for submissions is 18 July 2010. For submission of (full) papers, please visit www.CESifo.de.
