19 - 24 July 2010

CALL FOR PAPERS

CESifo Workshop on

TAXATION IN DEVELOPING COUNTRIES

Organisers: Clemens Fuest and George Zodrow

to be held on 19-20 July 2010
on the island of San Servolo in the Bay of Venice, Italy

Workshop description

The tax systems of developing countries differ considerably from those of developed countries. Revenue raised as a percentage of GDP is smaller than in developed countries and tax structures also differ considerably. The workshop is intended to bring together researchers working in this field to stimulate discussion about recent trends and future directions in taxation in developing countries. Questions to be addressed include:

- What are the differences in tax structures between developing and developed countries and how can they be explained?
- How do optimal policies differ across developing and developed countries?
- What are the effects of differences in tax structures on economic development and growth?
- What are the implications of tax competition for developing countries?

Keynote speakers

The keynote lectures will be delivered by:

Charles Bird	University of Toronto
Michael Keen	International Monetary Fund

Contact

For submissions, please visit www.cesifo.org.

Go to the “Conferences and Events” page, click on the conference name and then on the “Submit Paper” link associated to the workshop in question. Only online sub-missions will be accepted. Should you have any (technical) difficulties with the online submission procedure, please contact saavedra@cesifo.de for assistance.

The deadline for submissions is March 30, 2010. Authors of papers that are accepted for presentation at the workshop will be notified by the end of April.

A selection of the conference papers will be published in a Conference Volume by MIT Press. It is understood that all submissions to the conference imply submission to the publication outlet. The papers presented at the workshop can be revised after the workshop to include comments. This revised version will then be submitted to the conference volume. Final publication decisions are based on a standard refereeing process.

CESifo will provide accommodation, and will reimburse economy travel costs, for all participants with accepted papers. Other CESifo Research Network members are invited to participate, but are expected to provide their own funding for travel and accommodation.
