

Guns and Butter – The Economic Causes and Consequences of Conflict

09 – 10 December 2005, in Munich

Call for Papers

CESifo is organising a conference on the economic causes and consequences of conflict.

Topics to be analysed in presentations include (but are not restricted to):

- Political economy models of conflict
- The effect of conflict on economic activity
- The potential role of globalization in fostering a more peaceful or more violent world
- The relationships between development and conflict
- Better measures of the costs of conflict
- War finance

Both theoretical and empirical contributions are welcome, as are studies that examine internal conflicts, external conflicts and domestic and international terrorism. The conference will include invited as well as contributed papers. Keynote lectures will be given by Bruce Bueno de Mesquita, NYU and the Hoover Institution, Steven Davis, University of Chicago, and Edward Glaeser, Harvard University.

Following a refereeing process, a selection of the conference papers will be published in a conference volume by MIT Press. It is understood that all submissions to the conference imply submission to the publication outlet.

The deadline for submission of papers or an extended abstract is June 30th, 2005. CESifo research network members interested in presenting a paper should send their paper or extended abstracts to the workshop organiser:
